Special issue on 'Using Literature for Developing Language Skills'

The September 2012 issue no. 25, “Using Literature for Developing Language Skills” will once again bring into sharp focus the primary objective of Fortell: to publish contributions based on classroom experiential and practical research. We invite contributions that innovatively use literature as an effective tool for honing up English language skills. In fact the contributions can move beyond the literal classroom to the cyber-classroom and focus on e-strategies too for the same purpose.

The Guest Editors for the issue will be Prem Kumari Srivastava and Gitanjali Chawla.

The last date for receiving contributions for this issue is 30th June 2012.

Fortell Journal is published three times a year i.e. January, May and September by FORTELL, New Delhi. Copyright for the individual contribution rests with the author. However, Fortell Journal should be acknowledged as the original source of publication in a subsequent publication. Fortell retains the right to republish any of the contributions in its future publications or to make it available in electronic form for the benefit of its members.

Guidelines for submission
